Cygalle Dias, founder of the Cygalle Healing Spa at Casa de Campo (Dominican Republic), was awarded an honorary doctorate by the New York College of Health Professions for her work promoting a holistic lifestyle and therapies that transcend into all aspects of daily life. The honor was awarded at the commencement ceremony for the New York College of Health Professions' graduating class of 2009. "The college, like Cygalle Dias, is committed to a new standard of wellness that blends both Eastern and Western therapies," says Lisa Pamintuan, president of the New York College of Health Professions. "We're recognizing Cygalle because she is a leader in holistic wellness."
